

Bedding

Bedding which travels in the crate with your pet is generally soiled and may be destroyed on arrival. If you wish to send bedding for your pet's stay in quarantine it should be attached to the outside of the crate. Alternatively bedding can be sourced in Australia and either mailed to the quarantine station or supplied by you during a visit to the station. Please note that beanbags are not allowed into the station.

Toys and treats

If you wish to bring in treats for your pet, you will need to discuss their suitability with your animal's attendant to ensure they are not overfed. Pet food cannot be imported into Australia without first obtaining an AQIS Import Permit.

Some toys can present a hazard to your pet. Please avoid toys that are easily destroyed by biting or chewing (as they are a choking hazard) and those suspended by string. Again, you should discuss the suitability of toys with your animal's attendant. Suitable toys can be sourced in Australia and sent to the quarantine station.
